

Book Report

The time had come. My book report?

I'll read it, sir. I'll keep it short.

First, two small men lived in a shire.

They carried a ring many did admire.

This ring caused a stir. It raised people's ire.

So they had to destroy it in a great big fire.

These men had been chosen, like people you hire

To make a great journey... dangerous and so dire.

They traveled for miles up to a great spire

And near the end, the main guy did tire.

But they made it there. The ring? He did toss!

But the ending was happy, so it was no great loss.

That is my report. You should read this book, too.

If you don't have a copy, I'll loan mine to you!
